Václav Havel Airport Prague Strategic Development in Coming Years

Special website

A modern society needs a modern airport, and that is exactly what Václav Havel Airport Prague is. The development of our airport plays a vital role in the economic growth of tourism in the Czech Republic. The year 2019 marked our historical milestone in terms of the number of handled passengers. Unfortunately, the coming years were not as positive. However, air transport is gradually recovering after the end of the pandemic, and we at Prague Airport expect to return to the pre-pandemic results in 2026. By 2030, we are planning to offer 200 direct flights and 37 long-haul routes. Therefore, due to the expected increase in traffic in the coming years, the development of Prague Airport must also take place. We have prepared a number of development plans which will not only support the state's economy, but also bring major benefits to every passenger. All information is already available on the special website letisteprubudoucnost.cz/en.
