PRAGUE AIRPORT SUPPORTS OUTGOING TOURISM

A new marketing campaign launched by Prague Airport will support outgoing tourism and a number of interesting destinations across Europe. The list includes places in Croatia, Italy, France and Spain, easily reached from Václav Havel Airport Prague by direct scheduled flights. The campaign will use various media channels and run throughout the year, but primarily during the summer season. It is the airport's goal to increase the interest in air travel among residents of the airport catchment area and to offer an alternative to travelling by car. Prague Airport would also like to increase the knowledge of the destinations involved and the number of connections offered as well as provide our support to air carriers.

NEWS FROM AIRLINES

RYANAIR ANNOUNCES TWO NEW ROUTES

Ryanair, a low-cost carrier, has announced its launch of new routes to Palma de Mallorca and Bordeaux. The airline will service flights from Prague to the largest of the Balearic Islands every Tuesday from June 2019, while the Bordeaux connection will be offered, with twice weekly frequency on Thursdays and Sundays, effective 27

October 2019. The cities will thus become the 31st and the 32nd announced destinations to be operated by the carrier from Václav Havel Airport Prague.

CHINA EASTERN TO SERVICE SHANGHAI FIVE TIMES WEEKLY

China Eastern Airlines has confirmed its decision to increase the number of flights on the carrier's Prague – Shanghai route. Effective 6 May 2019, the airline will offer five weekly connections from Václav Havel Airport Prague to Shanghai, with the new frequency added on Mondays. China Eastern uses Airbus A330-200 for 262 passengers to service the route. Based on Prague Airport's estimates, the new frequency is expected to be used by about 10 thousand passengers in both directions during the summer season. The flights operated on Thursdays and Sundays have a stop in Xi'an, visited by tourist primarily for the Terracotta Army Site.

URAL AIRLINES ADDS FREQUENCIES TO YEKATERINBURG

From 6 March 2019, there will be more flights from Yekaterinburg to Prague in the Ural Airlines' schedule. In addition to regular flights currently offered on Tuesdays, Thursdays, Fridays and Sundays, Wednesday and Saturday services will be added. The connection to Prague, operated by Airbus A320 Family aircraft, will then be available up to six times per week. The additional frequencies will partially cover capacity on the route freed by another carrier's previous cancellations. Although, the Ural Airlines' service is primarily used by Russian and Chinese passengers, thanks to convenient Yekaterinburg connectivity, travellers from the Czech Republic can choose the route to reach the region or Russia's neighbouring countries

SERVICES AND FACILITIES

PASSENGERS CAN USE BAGGAGE CLAIM KIOSKS AT BOTH TERMINALS

Prague Airport now offers its passengers the second technological advancement. A test run of Virtual Baggage Reclaim Kiosks has been launched, providing passengers with assistance while reporting their lost baggage. Prague Airport worked closely with both handling companies active at the airport, i.e.

Menzies Aviation (T1) and Czech Airlines Handling (T2), during the project preparatory stage. Kiosks, located in the customs area close to baggage reclaim carousels, let passengers fill in PIRs (Property Irregularity Reports) online in nine languages. They submit the lost baggage information for further review to both the respective handling company and airline.
